

Susan's Spa

Your number one stop for beauty and blogging tips, all in one fabulous blog!

Wednesday, December 27, 2006

Giving A New Meaning To Doggie Bag

It wasn't so long ago that Paris and Nicole could be seen walking the red carpet with puppy in tow. In fact, Paris Hilton's little chihuahua, Tinkerbelle was one of the reasons why we ended up getting our chihuahua, Mandy, but that's another story. Toting their pooches everywhere, these celebrities, who also include Britney Spears and Lindsay Lohan, have set a trend which now has spawned a new phenomenon....Pawparazzi by Noodle Head Fun. This adorable line of toy pups with their cute accessories, are all the rage with girls 6-12 years old. The line includes such adorable dogs as Bailey, the Jack Russell terrier and Salsa the diva chihuahua. There's also Powder, the supermodel kitty and bad-boy actor, Cocoa. The little pooches not only come with their own jewelry, but also with Kate Spade inspired handbags. They are so trendy and hot right now that even women are buying them along with their daughters so they can have matching handbags. The trend shows no sign of stopping any time soon. Expect to see more dogs added to the line in 2007 including a Russian gray cat, a dachshund and maybe a beagle as well. The line can be found wherever toys are sold and also at Amazon .